

Dr. Kevin Sedivec has distinguished himself as an outstanding rangeland extension specialist, educator, and research scientist. His success as an extension specialist is reflected by the sheer number of extension workshops, meetings, etc. he has organized and/or participated in over the past 15 years. For example, he has organized/chaired 70 customer workshops and 35 in-service training courses. He has made over 350 educational presentations, authored or co-authored 20 peer reviewed extension publications, 38 "other" extension publications, and 75 field day reports/fact sheets. He and his work have been featured in over 225 popular articles, video's, and "other" avenues of outreach. Dr. Sedivec has taught several rangeland science courses at North Dakota State University and he has served as either major or co-major advisor to 22 graduate students. In addition, he has served as a member of 19 additional Graduate Student Committees. His independent and graduate students' research has resulted in one senior and nine junior authored refereed journal articles and a total of 46 abstracts. Also, he has been the principle or co-principle investigator on 76 research grants funded to the amount of $2.9m. Dr. Sedivec has received numerous awards for his dedicated service to his profession including the 1998 SRM Outstanding Young Professional Award. He has also served in numerous SRM leadership positions in the North Dakota Chapter, the Northern Great Plains Section, and the Parent Society.

Because of these accomplishments, it is truly a privilege for the Society for Range Management to honour Dr. Sedivec with a 2008 Outstanding Achievement Award.
